Josh is a security, protection and risk management professional with nearly 20 years' experience, operating in numerous high-level positions both Domestically and Internationally. He has worked State and Federal law-enforcement in a variety of tactical roles, and successfully provided risk mitigation for numerous corporate and private clients in various Protection, Consulting and Emergency Management Positions.

Throughout his career, Josh has taken every opportunity to learn and expand his skills and experience, having undertaken world's benchmarked best practice training with some of the world's leading security and law-enforcement agencies in both tactical operations and command and control functions. This leaves Josh capable of creating, implementing and effectively leading high-level security programs to achieve necessary outcomes regardless of the client type and individual risk landscape.

Having worked in unique, volatile and challenging environments such as remote communities in Central Australia, Papua New Guinea and the Philippines, Josh has dedicated much of his time to forming a deep cultural understanding and is able to apply best practice in culturally diverse environments to ensure alignment with vision and values.

Josh has demonstrated his expertise when delivering high-profile, complex projects for government and international corporations including completing mass gathering public safety assessments and mitigation plans, aligning departments with the Protective Security Policy Framework, creating, implementing and auditing large scale critical infrastructure security programs, and providing security modelling for some of Australia's largest sporting and entertainment events. Operationally, Josh continues to lead specialist teams on Executive, Celebrity and Witness Protection operations globally.
